ABOUT

Children and Screens

Children and Screens: Institute of Digital Media and Child Development is an independent, 501(c)(3) organization working to help children lead healthy lives in a digital world. The Institute delivers evidence-informed resources that equip families, youth-facing professionals, and policymakers with the confidence and knowledge necessary to act in the best interests of children and their development. Interdisciplinary research, science-based recommendations, communications, informed policy – it's how we create a world of good for children in the digital age.

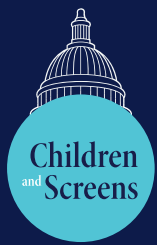

ABOUT THE

Digital Media and Developing Minds International Scientific Congress

The 2025 Digital Media and Developing Minds International Scientific Congress is a bi-annual convening that brings together multi-disciplinary experts to address critical questions related to digital media's effects on child development and well-being. The flagship gathering features a variety of events, including keynotes, interdisciplinary panel discussions, new research presentations, flash talks, poster sessions and networking opportunities. The 2025 Congress will be held at the Westin Washington, DC Downtown, 999 9th Street, NW, Washington, DC.

The Tools and Methodologies Exposition, held in conjunction with the Congress, is returning once again to highlight cutting-edge innovations and drive the next advancements in fostering a developmentally healthy digital environment for children and adolescents. Sign up today to contribute to the dialogue and leave a lasting impact on the future.

WHO ATTENDS THE Digital Media and Developing Minds International Scientific Congress?

- Academic researchers
- Nonprofit directors
- Clinicians (e.g., psychologists, pediatricians)
- Educators (e.g., teachers, administrators)
- Government agency representatives
- Others with expertise in child development and related fields

Exhibitors might offer:

- Tools for measuring screen time
- Tools for measuring app usage
- Ecological momentary assessment
- Participant management
- Data scraping
- New research methods
- Or other novel resources to advance research

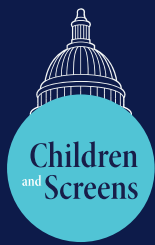

If you or your organization are interested in presenting new and emerging technologies that permit objective measurement of children's and family's media use (e.g., measures of time, content, or context of media use) and/or relevant outcomes (e.g., physical, psychophysiological, psychosocial, psychological, neurological responses), or innovative new methodologies, the Tools and Methodologies Exposition provides the ideal platform to feature your innovations.

Exhibitor Opportunities

Due to a generous donation, we are now able to offer complimentary tables to select exhibitors. Exhibitors are at the heart of the Tools and Methodologies Exposition, where the latest technologies and resources can be showcased.

Exhibit tables are located near the main Congress events to ensure high visibility and maximum interactions between exhibitors and Congress attendees. Table assignments will be confirmed on a first-come, first-serve basis after receipt of a signed contract.

Exhibitors will have the opportunity to conduct one scheduled demonstration of their tool or method during a session break. This demonstration will be listed in the official agenda for attendees. Scheduling of demonstrations will be on a first-come, first-served basis, as determined by the signed contract date.

The Tools and Methodologies Exposition is being held as part of the 2025 Digital Media and Developing Minds International Scientific Congress at the Westin Washington, DC Downtown, 999 9th Street, NW, Washington, DC.

Signed contracts for all exhibitor opportunities are due Friday, May 16th by 5pm ET.

*Please note that Exhibitor Tables are reserved for showcasing products, tools, and methods. If you would like to have a presence at the Congress but don't have a particular product to exhibit, see our sponsorship opportunities.
